

WHAT WOMEN WANT

It's the highly important 'first date' with the girl who could potentially end up having your babies and become your 'missus', you want to impress her and you want her to enjoy herself. Amy Davison recommends a few do's and don'ts to increase the likelihood of you getting a second date...

DO...COMPLIMENT A GIRL

Every girl likes to feel that you've noticed how nice she looks however, saying that she's so stunning she should be a supermodel and would give Kate and Naomi a run for their money is going a little bit overboard (but sweet none the less).

DO...HAVE AMBITION/TRY NEW THINGS

It's not attractive when a guy says 'There's nowhere I'd like to travel to really/nah I'll just have my usual chicken chow mein & fried rice, I don't think I'd like thai/let's just stay in tonight, I don't fancy going to Bristol, it's a bit far..'. Where's your sense of adventure? Try something new, even just ordering something different when you have a takeaway...go on we dare ya! What's the worst that can happen?!

DO...BE CHATTY

It's great talking for hours about nothing particularly important and just having a giggle! It's ear-fiddlingly boring being on a date with someone who doesn't attempt to make conversation and looks like a deer caught in the headlights when you ask him a question and then replies with a simple 'yes/no/maybe'. Then again, it's not so great having someone talk about themselves all night or bombards you with questions...somewhere in between is great!

DO...FLIRT

We don't mean grabbing her arse/telling her she looks sexy and all you wanna do is take her home/calling her for phone sex! Subtle is generally good and flirting makes people feel good too.

DO...HAVE YOUR OWN OPINION

Your date really won't believe that you like EVERYTHING that she likes and frankly it's boring if you do! It's excellent not having everything in common, it also tests your powers of compromise! It's off-putting when a guy just does whatever his mates do or says things (lies) to impress his mates...*Newsflash*they are your mates - you don't have to impress them!

DO...WASH AND BRUSH YOUR TEETH!

Thought this was a simple task? You're wrong! There are a surprising number of guys with below average hygiene standards...ewww, there's no excuse for it! Didn't your elders teach you anything?

DO...MAKE AN EFFORT

Smelling of stale smoke/beer/kebab, a creased shirt, BO, 3 day old stubble isn't good...you're meant to try and impress a girl on a first date! On the other hand...don't overdress in a suit & tie unless you're taking her somewhere very very special.

DON'T...BE CLINGY

Texting her every 5 minutes asking where she is/what she's doing and ringing when she doesn't reply within 10mins is stalkerish and it shows you don't have anything better to do... so just don't!

DON'T...GET

Slurring/crying and falling over isn't at all attractive on a first date...and it shows what we'll have to put up with later on in a potential relationship.

DON'T...SAY 'IT WAS SO FUNNY, YOU HAD TO BE THERE TO UNDERSTAND'

She wasn't there therefore she wouldn't find it funny so why even bother telling her?

DON'T...WEAR A TRACKSUIT

It's wrong unless you've just come from football/rugby/whatever training and she'll take the piss when she dissects the date later on with her mates (sorry).

DON'T...Call her 'luv'

Alrite luv?', 'What do you want to drink luv?', 'Yeah I know what you mean luv' makes you sound like a barmaid from Corrie.

DON'T...ASK HER EVERY FIVE MINUTES 'ARE YOU OK?' 'SURE?' X5, 'DO YOU WANT ANOTHER DRINK?' 'SURE?' 'WHAT'S WRONG?'

Unless she's convulsing, vomiting or passed out there's nothing wrong, if she hasn't finished her drink then she won't want another one and YES she's sure!!

DON'T...Tell her how you can't get a girlfriend:

Or how your ex left you because you were boring/crap in bed/had a BO problem because she'll probably (be bored) and agree with you and if she doesn't, you have just given her reasons not to go on a second date with you!
